*I shall not see happiness
again.
(Job 7:7)*

It's hard not to be struck by the grimness of Job's words. We might want to give him a break and excuse him. After all, look at what happened to the poor man! He lost his children, his possessions and property, even his health. Anyone would be devastated. It's only natural to vent your frustrations to your friends as Job did.

But let's not gloss over Job's melodramatic words. They provide a glimpse into not only how he was feeling in the midst of his devastation but how he was working through it. He teaches us an important lesson when we're going through something difficult: keep the lines of communication with God open!

God willing, we will never experience the same string of losses that Job experienced. But sometimes even small trials can send us into a spiral of negativity. Feeling devastated when we are devastated is natural. And that's okay as long as it doesn't stop there.

So if you find yourself complaining about your circumstances or getting caught up in self-pity, try to follow Job's example. Vent to your friends if you must, but turn to God as well. Tell him your frustrations. Tell him about the injustice of your situation. Don't hide the way you feel. Ask him hard questions. That kind of honesty gives him something he can work with.

But then go further and listen for his answer. Eventually, Job heard from God. He didn't get an immediate explanation of why he lost everything. He did, over time, come to a deeper understanding of God's greatness. He didn't get a vindication of his own righteousness, but he did go from being someone who only knew about God to being someone who had seen him directly. That's what God can do when you're honest and keep talking to him. Eventually, you will hear him.

"Lord, may my setbacks help me to open my heart more deeply and honestly to you."

Dear Fellow All Saints' Parishioners and Past Participants of our Guest Speaker Events,

Here is a Lenten preparation series webinar that you will not want to miss. Many of us participated in the three-part Inter-Faith Awareness series presented by Rev. Scott Lewis S.J. in February 2017. This year, in preparation for Easter 2021, Fr. Scott will present: New Interpretations of Holy Week. He will examine the Holy Week texts in light of recent theological trends and issues. Topics such as How to Read the Bible, difficult passages, violence and the meaning of the resurrection will be explored.

The sessions will be free of charge, in French or English, with live translation. They will also be recorded and posted on the Jesuits of Canada's website after the webinar presentation.

Fr. Scott Lewis, SJ, teaches New Testament at Regis College, Toronto. He is also a weekly contributor of God's Word on Sunday in The Catholic Register.

Mark your Calendar: Tuesday nights, 7:00 p.m. 1 hr. + Q&A.
